LOCAL GREENHOUSE BUSINESS SOLD TO A NEW CROP OF OWNER

Expanding opportunities for innovative growth abound in the Bay State

RAYNHAM, MA – Olson's Greenhouses, Inc. (Olson's) announced today that it has been sold to Matthew J. Piscitelli and Clive V. Olson. The seller, Clive H. Olson, will be an advisor and director of the new Company. A pillar of strength in the community for over 85 years, Olson's employs over fifty (50) people. Olson's primary business is the growing and selling of potted plants, at the wholesale level, to customers throughout the New England area. Olson's has also been recycling on specification waste oil to cost effectively power its operations for twenty five (25) years and maintains a strong commitment to the environment within which it operates.

“Olson's maintains the highest standards and quality control measures with regards to the environment and the products it grows” said Matt Piscitelli, head of Olson's. “We are proud to be at the helm of this well respected business. Also, Olson's commitment to its employees shows the ability of a company to show compassion and support for the multitude of diverse ethnic backgrounds of its workers.”

Olson's grows the highest quality potted plants and various other greenery at its thirty (30) acre farm in Raynham, Massachusetts. Olson's success is founded on horticultural excellence, reliability and innovative growing programs. With an impeccable record of customer centric service performed by knowledgeable and experienced horticulturalists, Olson's is pleased to be one of the largest, strongest and most well respected greenhouse businesses in the area. The impacts on its immediate surroundings are all positive as it is a large consumer of waste oil which would otherwise pollute the surrounding environment.

Olson's is headed by Matt Piscitelli and Clive V. Olson. A native of Brockton, Piscitelli received a Master's of Business Administration from Northeastern University and is a graduate of Bryant College in Smithfield, RI. C. V. Olson, son of the seller, C. H. Olson, has fifteen years experience in the garden center and greenhouse industry. A native of Taunton, C.V. Olson founded and currently owns the highly successful Olson's Garden Center in Wareham, MA.
